From the Helena (Montana) Herald of the 13th ult. we get the annexed items:

Our old friend S. H. Hubbard, who lives at Confederate gulch, informs us that [illegible] that place on Wednesday last, for a new excitement in Big Horn river, a distance of some two hundred and eighty miles. A gentleman who has been spending the summer in that country, and who reports that the Indians are [illegible] to allow the limited number of men now in the diggings to work in peace, [illegible] of their number having already been killed, including the party, and from the last information Mr. Bingham could gather from the gentleman himself with whom he conversed, the diggings are really good. He says that in one gulch twelve feet deep he obtained seven dollars to the pan on the bed rock, with little or no prospect in the dirt above, while in another gulch they found pay from the top down some seven feet, the surface prospecting one dollar and a half, while the top dirt yielded about three cents. Verily we have a great country, marvelous in climate, marvelous in richness and marvelous in extent.

Several ox trains belonging to Forbes, Majors and others, laden with flour, salt, dried peaches, etc., from Salt Lake arrived during the past week, while others are on the Boulder, Pipestone and elsewhere between Virginia City. Forbes' train consisted of thirty-one wagons. Majors has three trains, a portion bound for Virginia and the balance for Helena, all either in or lumbering on the threshold of the two cities. These trains have been on the road two or three months and we are told that Majors has lost no less than three hundred head of cattle since starting, by cold storms and want of feed in consequence of deep snow. A majority of these goods are owned by Mr. Stephens, who has immense quantities of flour on hand and to arrive.

The quiet of this community was disturbed on Thursday last, by the report of a big discovery in this vicinity. Some two months ago a party of miners conceiving the idea that the flat below Helena would pay, organized a district and took up this ground. A shaft was commenced and work prosecuted on it since that time as the weather permitted. The parties claim to have got as high as four dollars to the pan. A stampede to the place and the claiming of all the available as well as unavailable ground, was the consequence.

We sincerely hope the report is correct. If it is we may look for the opening of a wide field for mining enterprise, giving employment to a great number of miners in the immediate vicinity of this place. The reported diggings are about two miles from Helena, on the low flat or table land towards Ten Mile creek.

A Mexican who came over the Bitter Root last week reports several pack trains snow-bound, and that one cayuse packer lost twenty head of animals, being frozen to death after reaching the ferry on the Missoula. The goods were left twelve miles this side of the summit, and the animals driven very hard in order to reach food and a place of safety from the deep snow, so that they were exhausted and warm when the cold freezing night came on and took them an easy prey to its severity. The name of the owner of the train our informant was unable to give. A mule train or two, were likewise caught in the same mountain, but by caching their goods, made good their escape back to the Spokane, where their animals were doing well. On the Jocko, Messrs. Harkness & Chapman, Pritchett & Barlo, and Lee & O'Connor are also snow bound and will be unable to reach the mines until spring opens, nevertheless, they are on good winter pasturage and happy as clams.

Our more southern neighbors, who are accustomed to look upon our mountain homes as [illegible] year to all industrial pursuits, would be astonished could they look over the summit of the "Rocky Range" and "Bitter Roots," and see the thrifty miners of "Grizzly" and other gulches running full sluice heads and taking out the "needful," as we have seen them during the past week, in our rambles through the gulches in the immediate vicinity of Helena.

We find the following items in the Montana Post of January 27th:

The passengers and travelors on the road from Virginia to Helena had been unmolested by road agents until it was considered perfectly secure, but James Talbot while traveling on horseback from this city to Helena about two weeks ago, was stopped by three men, near the Jefferson bridge, before he could draw his pistol, and presenting their revolvers, said, "John, we don't want to hurt you—but we want your money." Resistance being useless the unfortunate wayfarer had to surrender 200 ounces of dust and $650 in greenbacks to the miscreants. No trace of the road agents has yet been discovered.

The recent fall of snow has alarmed holders of stock and ranchmen. Beef is selling at 40 cents per pound and steak meat at $1. Hay fetches 7 cents per pound, and men offer their cattle for sale for a mere song. Reports say that many persons have frozen to death between this place and Benton. The house-tops are heavily laden with snow, and young mountains of it, shoveled from sidewalks and roofs, make locomotion through the streets of Virginia almost impossible.

Five or six persons left Helena on the 23d of January for Blackfoot, on snow shoes. The Indian tribes inhabiting the country between Walla Walla and Fort Benton comprise the following euphonious titles: The Walla Wallas, Cayuse, Palouses, Spokanes, Coeur d'Alenes, Flatheads, Pend d'Oreilles, Snakes, Bannocks, Blackfeet and Nez Perces.

A VEIN OF BRASS IN PENNSYLVANIA.—Pennsylvania is not an excessively modest State. Its people along the Maryland border were noted during the late war, for their sympathy with the rebel cause. When in 1863 the rebel army invaded Cumberland and York counties, the Pennsylvanians contented themselves with fortifying their capital, fretting themselves about Philadelphia, and imploring New York to send its State volunteers down to Gettysburg to drive Lee's army out of the State. It is now a matter of history that the militia did absolutely not a thing toward repelling the rebel invasion, and that the people in the neighborhood of the invaded territory refused to organize for their own protection, thereby permitting small squads of rebels to roam about at pleasure, when their operations might have been greatly restricted. We do not, at this late day, upbraid the Pennsylvanians for their conduct at the time of the invasion, but we think it decidedly cool for that State to present Congress with a bill of nine hundred thousand dollars, as it has just done, "to repay the cost of repelling the rebel invasion." Pennsylvania had ample warning of Lee's purpose, and by timely action might have mustered a militia force which would have deterred Lee from penetrating the State with the Union army close upon his heels; but time was frittered away in idle speculation. Lee saw that the southern range of counties was unprotected, and he took advantage of the opportunity to replenish his commissariat. Small squads of rebels came up as far as Harrisburg without meeting the slightest opposition from the State militia, and that too in a thickly populated part of the State. What a contrast to the action of the Green Mountain boys in the days of the Revolution, when Burgoyne sent the flower of his army on a pillaging expedition to Bennington! And Pennsylvania wants the Government to pay it nine hundred thousand dollars to repay the "expenses of repelling the rebel invasion!" We used to disbelieve the story about the miserly fellow who sued a man for damages on the charge that, in rescuing him from drowning, in a mill pond, the man accidentally tore the miser's coat. We can doubt the truth of that story no longer.

The above and other articles in the like vein are often published in the newspapers in all parts of the country. The supposition that any number of undisciplined men could have broken Lee's veteran army is absurd. The great Army of the Potomac did it only with the extremest difficulty and after three days of the most terrible fighting. A few thousand raw militia, though brave as Spartans, would have been no obstacle at all to the rebel army, then fully 100,000 strong.

Sir Walter Scott, in lending a book one day to a friend, cautioned him to be punctual in returning it. "This is really necessary," said the poet in apology, "for though many of my friends are bad arithmeticians, I observe almost all of them are good book keepers."

Railway to the Pacific.

Lieut. Col. J. H. Simpson, of the Engineer Corps, has made a report to the Interior Department in reference to the Pacific railroads now in process of construction. In compliance with the act of Congress of July 1, 1862, and the several amendatory acts thereof, six companies have accepted the provisions of the law and have organized to build the roads and branches. The Union Pacific Company is authorized to build a road from the 100th meridian to the western boundary of Nevada Territory, and also from the western boundary of Iowa to the 100th meridian. W. B. Ogden, of the Illinois Central, is President of the Board of Commissioners, and Gen. John A. Dix of the road.

The construction began at Omaha, and the grading of 100 miles is completed. It is expected that 60 miles of the road will be completed by the latter part of January, and 100 miles by July. The Eastern division of this road has also built 60 miles of this road, but it does not seem to have satisfied the demands of the Interior Department. Some difficulty seems to have arisen between its management and the road under General Dix. The Board of Commissioners report that the portion of the road completed was not perfect, and its President has promised to reform it. In case it should reach the 100th meridian before the Union Pacific it may continue its track until it meets the Central Pacific. No bonds will be issued until this meridian is reached. The Central Pacific road runs east from Sacramento and will meet the Union branch at Salt Lake. The engineering on this work will be stupendous. On leaving Sacramento it will cross the Sierra Nevadas. The first 50 miles after leaving Sacramento carry it up to the western slope of the Sierra Nevadas, attaining an elevation of 2,300 feet, and including some of the heaviest and extensive grading of the whole line. In some places between Colfax and Newcastle, the cuttings are about 70 feet deep and from 800 to 1,200 feet long, through hard rock or cement. The number of laborers now at work is 10,000. During the present year the Company hopes to reach a point called the Truckee River, 120 miles from Sacramento, 7,000 feet above tide-water. Two tunnels are being built near the summit of the Sierras, 1,600 feet long, the other 900 feet long. The laborers are working night and day. The Atchison branch is about to complete the first section of 20 miles, and promises to build the road in the most substantial manner. The Sioux City and Pacific Railroad is authorized to build a road from Sioux City to connect with the main line of the Union Pacific. The Burlington and Missouri Company is authorized to run from the Missouri River to some branch on the Union Pacific, this side of the 100th meridian. Lands, but no bonds, will be given by Congress. The Northern Pacific Road has been organized. It proposes to run from Lake Superior, near the 46th parallel, to Puget Sound, with a branch by way of Columbia River to Portland, Oregon, the latter to join the main line not more than 300 miles from the western terminus. The whole road must be built by July, 1876, and 50 miles within the first two years.

It will thus be seen that the great work of building a railway from the Atlantic to the Pacific is rapidly progressing. We presume the first connection will be made at Salt Lake City. The Union Line, which seems to be making the most headway, will connect the Eastern cities with the Western, at St. Louis—which will thus be in railroad importance the main city in America. Its friends indulge the hope that it will be finished in four or five years. The Northern line will probably be finished in ten years. This will be important in the fact that it will absorb the British American trade. The project of a Southern branch seems to have been abandoned, but we presume only temporarily. After the South has become pacified, and order has been restored in Mexico, we may hope to have a line from New Orleans controlling the vast silver countries. In time we shall have them all, and when that time comes, New York—10 days from London by sea and 10 days from San Francisco by steam—will command the commerce of the East and the West—of Europe, America and Asia. Our destiny as a city is to become the metropolis of the world, and men not very young will live to see the day when Calcutta and Pekin, Melbourne and London will make their exchanges on Broadway.—N. Y. Tribune, Jan. 20.

A QUAINT INDORSEMENT.—Franklin W. Smith, a Boston contractor, was tried by court-martial, and found guilty of pocketing a thousand or two dollars out of a contract with the Navy Department for supplies. The report of the court martial was sent to President Lincoln for his examination, who returned it with this characteristic indorsement:

Whereas, Franklin W. Smith had contracted with the United States Navy Department to a million and a quarter of dollars, and had the chance to steal a quarter of a million, and whereas he was charged with stealing only $10,000, and from the final revision of the testimony it is only claimed that he stole $1,000, I don't believe he stole anything at all.

Therefore, the records of the court-martial, together with the finding and sentence, are disapproved, declared null and void, and the defendant is fully discharged. A. LINCOLN.

Shall Rebels come into Congress

The principal difference between the President and Congress is upon the question of admitting the Southern members. The President steps out of his own proper sphere and insists that Congress shall practically give up its constitutional right of judging of the qualifications of its members, and receive into its body those whom the rebellious States have sent from the Confederate Congress or from the headquarters of the late rebel armies to the National Capital. The admission of these men to seats in Congress, would, in the President's judgment, be the finishing stroke in the work of reconstruction. Congress cannot submit to this dictation; nor can it do the loyal people of the country so great a wrong as to admit [illegible] who are personally responsible for the [illegible], and who ought to be held for punishment, to high places in the councils of the nation.

What is the character of a large number of the men whom the President and the Copperhead [illegible] would force into Congress? Some of them were members of Congress at the time the [illegible] While holding seats in that body they deliberately plotted treason against the Gov- [illegible] support and defend the Constitution of the United States, improved the opportunities which their high position gave them to concert a plan for the establishment of a Government in opposition to lawful authority. With perjury on their lips and treason in their hearts, they left the places they held under the Government they had sworn to defend, and going into their respective States seduced the people from their true allegiance and arrayed them against a loyal people and a beneficent Government. Others among those who are now claiming seats in Congress, were filling various positions under the Government which had educated and provided for them; but when the rebellion commenced, and their services were needed, they forsook their country, turned against her in her day of peril, and directed the armies of the rebellion against her loyal sons. These are the men who are now manifesting such shameless haste to be admitted into the most honorable and responsible positions. Nothing abashed by their treason; with their hands still reeking with the blood of loyal men; with the horrible guilt upon them of having with fiendish deliberation and devilish delight starved our brethren by tens of thousands in loathsome prison pens, these rebels now [illegible] themselves at Washington, and insolently demand that room shall be made for them among the most honored in the land! Ought Congress to admit them? Rather should not these perjured rebels be put on trial for their crimes? Does not justice, long outraged, demand them for the gibbet, rather than counsel their admission to the places they claim?

But, it is asked, shall the South forever be unrepresented? By no means. Let those States send members who are free from the guilt of perjury, murder and treason, and they will be received. But let patriots never consent that the Confederate Congress, adjourned from Richmond, shall re-assemble at Washington!

The country is of opinion that the time has arrived for establishing the fact that connected with this great rebellion, there has been some wrong. The President declares that he has "labored to bring principal intelligent traitors to justice," who, with the President's acts before him, believes the declaration? The country has heard it asserted that "treason is a crime and traitors should be made infamous," until the repetition of the hackneyed phrase serves only to excite contempt and ridicule Loyal men have had about enough of President Johnson's manner of "making treason odious." Under the present order of things the fact is much more likely to be established that it was a crime to put down the rebellion, than that the rebellion itself was a crime

It was high time that the progress which was making toward exalting treason and degrading loyalty, should be arrested. The country thanks Congress for taking a firm stand The representatives of the people will be sustained in their adherence to the principles which carried us triumphantly through the late great struggle

THE LATE ROBBERY OF GOVERNMENT FUNDS.—The San Francisco Bulletin gives the following account of the manner in which W L Adams the Astoria Collector, was robbed while on his way to that city

W. L. Adams, Collector of Customs for the District of Oregon, was robbed of $20 500 in gold coin on the recent trip of the steamship Oregon from Astoria to this port, on which he was a passenger It seems that he had $17 500 in gold coin and about $8,000 in greenbacks with him, which he intended to deposit with the Sub Treasurer in accordance with instructions from Washington Instead of depositing his money with the Purser of the ship he kept it in his trunk during the entire voyage and not until he opened it at the Russ House did he discover that any of the treasure was missing Then it was ascertained that two bags of gold coin, one containing $12 500 and the other $8 000 had been stolen Information was at once given to the police, but the passengers had all left the steamer and the chances for its recovery are extremely doubtful Mr Adams has no one to blame for the robbery It is the natural result of his carelessness

Congressional

Dixon, from the committee on post offices and postal affairs reported a resolution calling on the Post Master General to lay before the Senate all the information in his possession in regard to the feasibility and usefulness of establishing telegraph lines in connection with the mail routes for the transmission of the Government and public business Mr Gratz Brown spoke at some length on this subject, favoring the establishment of Government telegraph lines The resolution was adopted.

The resolution which passed the House, forbidding the admission of Southern members, was taken up Mr. Sherman opposed the consideration of the question, saying that it could not be fairly discussed at the present time Mr Fessenden said he called up the motion because he considered it of the greatest importance He denied that there was any desire to get up a quarrel between the President and Congress If Congress is placing itself in the way of reconstruction by keeping out the members from the South, it ought to know it Mr Sherman, in reply, thought that the events of yesterday were too fresh in the memory of Senators not to have some influence upon them, and he thought it well to allow that influence to pass away Mr Fessenden took up the resolution, arguing that it was the determination of Congress not to act upon the credentials of the Southern members until they had passed a law for the admission of the Southern States Mr Fessenden read from the President's speech a paragraph stating that the States had no right to go out of the Union and that he maintained the theory that when the States gave evidence of loyalty and obedience they should be restored according to the tenor of former relations Mr Fessenden argued the right of Congress to inquire whether any of the conditions named by the President had been complied with, and said the special committee was nothing more than a servant of Congress and could not set up any authority against that body which had made it On the subject of the bill vetoed by the President he said he had never been a very warm friend of the bill, but he yielded his objections because he thought the powers conferred by it were constitutional and their exercise necessary He voted to sustain the bill when it was returned, because he objected to the closing portions of the veto message, expressing the opinion that Congress could not make a law to tax any State unrepresented

The House declared the election of Mr Voorhees of Indiana illegal and gave the contested seat to Henry D Washburne by 87 yeas to 35 noes

Mr Stevens introduced a bill to secure the speedy construction of the southern branch of the Pacific Railroad and telegraph line which was referred to the select committee on that subject The House committee on the Pacific Railroad have reported a bill authorizing the second Pacific Railroad Company The Southern Branch is organized under the laws of Kansas and the holders of a grant of lands heretofore made to Kansas, to aid in the construction of a railroad from a point near Fort Riley down the Neosho river to where the said road is intersected by the Leavenworth, Lawrence and Fort Gibson Rail road

Mr Ramsay's bill was introduced in the Senate to day to secure the construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad and telegraph line, and authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury whenever the Commissioners of the Railroad shall report the completion of two hundred and fifty or more consecutive miles, to pledge the credit of the Government to the payment of the interest on the stock at the rate of six per cent per annum semi annually at the rate of $20 000 per mile

Senator Sherman has the floor for Monday and will speak in favor of the House concurrent resolution affirming the views of Congress concerning the admission of the Southern members

Character of the Meeting Addressed by the President

WASHINGTON Feb 24 —The reports to the radical press state that no such meeting as yesterday transpired at Grover's Theatre and in front of the White House has ever before been held in public in the north Robert Johnson the President's private secretary and his son in law Mr Patterson Senator elect from Tennessee, were present and occupied prominent positions at the theatre [illegible] ready one speaker and the sentiment was cheered Taken in connection with the subsequent speech of the President the proceedings of the day have been beyond all precedent the most disgraceful ever witnessed in the country and cannot with the least regard for truth be stated in a milder way

President Johnson has directed the heads of the several departments to withdraw their advertising patronage from Forney's Chronicle which has taken a decided stand against the policy of the administration

The caucus of the Republican members to night at the capitol after a full interchange of opinions on the state of public affairs indicated a disposition to treat the President with all propriety and kindness The caucus betrayed no symptoms of any surrender of principle or rights of the legislative branch of the Government

Iowa and Missouri Sustain Congress

CHICAGO, Feb 24 Yesterday the legislatures of Iowa and Missouri adopted resolutions sustaining Congress and denouncing the President Democratic meetings to ratify the veto of the President are being very generally held

The Republican Club of Illinois in their annual convention at Peoria yesterday voted unanimously to sustain Congress

John W Forney on the President's Policy

CHICAGO, Feb 24 The following is the substance of Forney's article in the Philadelphia Press which explains a passage in the President's speech While staunch friends of the republic were taking counsel among themselves after reading the veto message of the President the Copperhead politicians in and out of Congress assisted by the disloyal elements of that city were celebrating the event with joy as tumultuous as that with which the sincere sympathizers here would have hailed the entrance of Jeff Davis into the Capital of the United States after the battle of Bull Run Long before Congress had adjourned it was announced a serenade to the President and early in the evening a band of music followed by about two hundred people called at the President's mansion His Excellency declined to make a speech but somebody announced that he would address the public on Thursday evening Not a Union member of either House not even an office holder, as far as I could hear took part in the demonstration up to this writing I have not conversed with a single individual Senator Representative, or citizen who shows a willingness to support the policy of the President

In one respect it is far better that the relations between the loyal people and President Johnson be clearly defined and understood The suspense which has prevailed in regard to his exact policy was insupportable You will recollect that prior to the New York and Pennsylvania election last year although the President was repeatedly called upon by Union men of both States and entreated to declare in favor of the regular ticket or at least against the Copperheads he refused to take sides with the friends of the country Please take notice of this historical fact inasmuch as it will serve to dissipate the theory that the veto was provoked by what is called the radical policy in Congress The same temper characterized him directly after the meeting of Congress Not an intimation was given from the time of his annual message of his intention to carry out the positive and voluntary pledges he made while a candidate before the people Accordingly, treason everywhere took new heart

It was as common to ridicule and execrate the radicals as it was to outrage and jeer negro delegations Leading and most proscriptive Democrats paid regular court and were received almost in state at the President's Mansion Mortified as they were to see him entertaining and listening to Copperheads and traitors, humiliated by his ill digested incoherent and illogical harangues as he received and answered all sorts of delegations true men in Congress sought to suppress their apprehensions They did everything to avoid postpone and remedy the condition of things which it now appears has been for motives crafty, sedulously and treacherously preparing Not a measure was contemplated by those faithful representatives that did not find a source of encouragement in the pledges and assurances of Andrew Johnson himself This is true even of the most radical measures We can best understand this solemn emergency by fearlessly stating the dangers of the Republic—dangers, however, that may be anticipated and prevented if we are only bold and fearless in the discharge of our imperative duties

Seward Refuses to Accept the Shenandoah.

NEW YORK, Feb 24 —The morning papers contain further correspondence between the United States and the British Foreign Office relating to the Shenandoah Mr Seward refuses to recognize the vessel as the Shenandoah asserting she was never other than the British registered ship Sea King He sharply declares he did not ask for proceedings to be taken for the condemnation of the ship, because the course which the British Government has heretofore pursued in regard to our registration for justice, was such as to discourage on our part any expectation of such disposition of the vessel adding that the United States accept her simply and exclusively upon prudential considerations, that the vessels being given into our possession will not again depart from British waters in a hostile character

The British Foreign Secretary said that there were matters contained in the affidavit on which the Government might possibly found prosecutions if the evidence was furnished against them

Mr Adams rejoined that with their prodigious [illegible] presume to say that the United States Government would be willing to take this course The entire correspondence is summed up by the London press as of an irritating character placing the question in a less satisfactory manner than ever

NEW YORK, Feb 19 —The Herald's Montreal correspondent states that the publication of the negotiations showing the failure of the Canadian Commission to effect in Washington the renewal of the reciprocity treaty, creates much excitement Provision merchants are very much depressed by their trade prospects for the coming year The Government organs pretend to find consolation in the assumption that this reciprocity failure will hasten the realization of the provisional confederation scheme The ministry are determined to make another vigorous effort to carry this latter measure to completion, but there is a strong opposition to it among the people A bitter contest on the matter is anticipated

Eulogy on Henry Winter Davis

WASHINGTON, Feb 22 —The eulogy on Henry Winter Davis was delivered before the Senate and House in Joint Convention by Senator Creswell, of Maryland Secretary Stanton and McCulloch, Justices of the Supreme Court, and many officers of the army and navy were present

Foreign.

NEW YORK, Feb 22 —The steamer City of Baltimore from Liverpool February 7th arrived to day Her news has been mainly anticipated

In the House of Commons, Watkins gave notice that on February 10th he should ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether any or what representation had been made on behalf of Her Majesty's Government to the Government of the United States with reference to the Fenian organization especially with regard to the employment of American officers and the issue of bonds by the so called Irish Republic

The Spanish Government has decided to issue letters of marque against Chile upon proof that Chile has adopted this mode of warfare

The Minister of State announced in the Cortes that Peru was probably at the present time in open hostility against Spain

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 25 —The death of Showalter formerly a member of the California Legislature occurred in this way Showalter and a man named Rear were at a hotel at Mazatlan A few days before his death he got on a drunken spree and commenced smashing furniture and fixtures The bar tender remonstrated with him on his conduct telling him it was not right to thus destroy his property Showalter replied By G—d I am a gentleman, sir The bar tender retorted You don't act like one whereupon Showalter drew a dirk knife and stepped toward the bar tender with a view of provoking a fight The bar tender instantly drew his revolver and fired at Showalter ball taking effect in his arm below the elbow and ranging upward lodged near the shoulder Showalter was rendered incapable of fighting by the shot The bar tender had a double barreled gun and but for the interference of outsiders would have given him its contents and finished him As it was, Showalter died of lockjaw caused by the wound

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY
OF NEW YORK,
INCORPORATED 1843.

ASSETS,
All Cash - - $14,000,000
ANNUAL INCOME all Cash over, $3,500,000
PAID CLAIMS, by Death over $6,500,000

THE OLDEST AND LARGEST LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY IN THE UNITED STATES
EVERY DESCRIPTION OF POLICY ISSUED
ALL POLICIES ARE NON FORFEITABLE

Dividends are declared Annually—which can be applied as Cash in reducing the yearly premium commencing in the second year or towards buying paid up insurance

The last Dividend (Feb 1st 1866) was nearly double in amount and in proportion to premiums paid than was ever declared in the same space of time by any other Company in the world

OF DIVIDENDS AND POLICIES ISSUED IN 1864

Am't Policy	Am't Dividends	Am't Premiums Paid
$11 000 00	$ 70 00	$351 00
10 000 00	618 62	304 40
5 0 0 0 00	197 10	111 40
1 000 00	115 43	68 84
1,000 00	52 64	25 82

OF POLICIES PAID BY THE COMPANY

Original Am't of Policy	Dividend Additions	Total Am't Paid

5 000 00	1 278 43	6 278 43
4 000 00	2 481 53	6 481 53
1 000 00	1 608 30	2 608 30

N B —Particular attention is requested to the advantages afforded by the payment of the premiums on 5 10 Life and Endowment assurance policies in TEN ANNUAL INSTALLMENTS The rates of such premiums charged by this Company are lower while the dividends are greater than in any other life company in the United States As an additional inducement, the Company will, on surrender of such policy, issue a paid up policy for an equitable sum which they will guarantee SHALL EXCEED the proportion amount

For instance, on surrender of a policy for $10,000 (other amounts in the same proportion,) on which the premiums are payable in ten annual instalments, the Company will issue a PAID-UP POLICY which they will guarantee

After the payment of 2 premiums SHALL EXCEED $2000
4 3600

And so on On the Five Year Life Plan the pro rata is double

ENDOWMENT POLICIES are issued payable to the assured at death or any age between 40 and 85, with full participation in the surplus of the Company, thus combining Life Insurance with a safe and profitable investment

It has been clearly proven that there is no way of investing where amounts are paid in small installments in so safe and advantageous a manner—and bring in as large returns as in an Endowment Policy in this Company They are also beginning to be considered an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY by Merchants and others—for aside from a Life Insurance it constitutes the finest form of collateral to have by them upon which to borrow or convert into cash in cases of emergency

PILOTAGE ON THE COLUMBIA RIVER BAR.—Our attention has been called to the [illegible] system of pilotage on the Columbia river bar, and with a view of [illegible] the subject—that it may be presented [illegible] in a fair light and that [illegible] claimed [illegible] be a means to abolish, we give the substance of a few of the wrongs said to exist. Ship masters complain that recent enactment have granted exclusive privilege to the tug and authorized [illegible] warrant. They do not wish to be compelled to take a tug when the weather is fair, which they will [illegible]. Commanders of steamships [illegible] that the risks are too great to warrant them in employing the pilots in the tug in which they have not full confidence. The pilots, who have served for years and fully understand the business, are debarred by existing laws because they refuse to attach themselves to the tug, which refusal is based upon the belief that the tug is not adapted for the place and the cost of maintaining her as a pilot boat is so excessive as to consume the most part of the receipts of the business with the present commerce of the port. It is also claimed that the Rabboni is not amply-sufficient as a pilot boat. She is powerful and well adapted for the purposes of a tug and can take vessels over the bar, but not in all kinds of weather. As to the piloting of steamships—there are very many times when a steamship can come in that it would be an utter impossibility for the tug to go out, and signalizing cannot be done on the Columbia river bar, as is often the case at other places, like that of Humboldt, for instance, under certain circumstances. The Sierra Nevada, in command of Capt. Connor, has never been detained a half hour outside for want of a pilot, because of carrying one on board, or from the fact the old pilot boat always stood out in rear less cruising under sail in the season when it was necessary to have a pilot on board the steamships during a round of [illegible]. The merchants, insurance agents and owners in California, interested in this matter, made protest of the action of the legislature here, but from some cause it never came to light and the law was enacted. To pilot successfully and especially on the bar at the mouth of the Columbia, requires considerable experience, and it is claimed that the pilots on the tug do not take [illegible] and study the channel as they should, because of the [illegible] attending the running of the tug. Steamship [illegible] will not take the new pilots, but will go on as they have been doing, give employment to the old pilots who still remain on the bar, and if spoken by the tug refuse the services of her pilots, paying the half pilotage in preference. There can be no objection to the tug on the bar, but on the contrary all will be glad to see her [illegible], if properly put on. The exclusive privileges, that have been granted her as a tug and a pilot boat [illegible] are working hardship to ship masters, and the matter is deserving of some attention. It is urged that if the [illegible] there would have been no need of special legislation in Oregon and Washington territory to give her this monopoly and unrestricted powers. The idea that has gained popularity to the effect that it was the tug that [illegible] a reduction in the price of freights by the [illegible], is denied by ship masters, because of the fact that rates of pilotage, instead of being less are actually [illegible] than formerly, compelling masters to pay half rates, or quarter rates, after they have passed all [illegible], in case it has been impossible for them to get a pilot [illegible], and attaching towage to the regular rates of pilotage, in some instances where it was useless, as in a recent case with the bark Jane A. Falkinburg from Baker's Bay. Commanders of steamships are not disposed to injure the pilots employed by the tug, but at the same time they have not sufficient confidence in them and are [illegible] to complain at being compelled to receive them. In this matter we are free to confess that we have been in error regarding the privileges granted to the tug, until now never having had but one side of the [illegible], and we believe the legislature [illegible] at a full knowledge of what they were doing, or the [illegible] likely to follow their action.

[illegible].—The telegraph informs us that the Montana and [illegible] both sailed for Portland on Saturday. Ought not our [illegible] get out and give the Montana a handsome [illegible]. She will be the first new steamship that ever paid [illegible] a visit. The others have all been old [illegible] the side of her. And then will not her presence [illegible], under the circumstances, for [illegible] give her a good old fashioned reception, we say, and show our thankfulness to her owners, for their [illegible] in pitting her against one of the greatest impositions that ever ground a community. An opposition whose controllers are as void of feeling as the most [illegible] of modern times. Who have taken the [illegible] of many of our good citizens, and who have gone too long unwhipped by justice.

TRAVEL IN THE UPPER COUNTRY.—We have now rolling [illegible] time that the Columbia river is open to the [illegible] point of navigation. During the winter just past, [illegible] been a cold and stormy one for Oregon since [illegible] of December, travel has been but slightly impeded. The stage lines have kept up uninterruptedly—[illegible] have to note the arrival at the Dalles on the 22d [illegible] four-horse team twelve days from Ruby City. [illegible] This team left the Dalles for Owyhee, driven by Mr. Miller, on the 11th day of January, reached Ruby City in fourteen days and returned as above stated, making the round trip in twenty six days, laying by but [illegible] days, in dead of winter, and at a time when the [illegible] the route from California via Chico was perfectly [illegible], and impracticable. This ought to be [illegible] to the absurd stories about the impossibility of [illegible] the routes from the Columbia river to Idaho [illegible] the most favorable weather of summer.

[illegible] OF THE SIERRA NEVADA.—The steamship Sierra Nevada, Capt. Connor, left this city on Saturday last at 4 o'clock P. M., with the following cargo: 4,070 boxes apples, 224 sacks onions, 10 bales sheep pelts, 2 bales furs, 12 boxes eggs, and a few cases of merchandise, [illegible] woolen goods and leather. Treasure, to the [illegible] of $162,500, was shipped by parties as follows:

Wells, Fargo & Co	$75,000
Ladd & Tilton	28,000
[illegible] Bros	54,000
[illegible] Bros	5,500
Total	$162,500

[illegible].—On Saturday Gen. Steele, the new commander of this department of the Columbia, took his departure [illegible] city for Vancouver. On his arrival there the [illegible] of guns to a Major-General in the regular army was fired in honor of the event. The General is a [illegible], medium sized man, with keen blue eyes, hair and whiskers slightly tinged with gray, but [illegible] would not likely be mistaken in any [illegible]. That he will be popular here we are confident, not only with his own department, but with the civil [illegible]. The splendid band of the 14th accompanied the General and staff on the Fannie Troup, and performed some of their exquisite pieces.

THE IRISH REPUBLIC.—Capt. S. J. McCormick, head-center of the Fenian Brotherhood for Oregon, received by the last [illegible] $20,000 worth of bonds of the Irish Republic, to be offered for sale, in sums of from $5 to $500. The bonds are very neatly executed, bearing portraits of Lord Edward Fitzgerald, Robert Emmett, Wolfe Tone, and other patriots. The vignette is a representation of the Green Isle, with the sun just breaking upon it in the [illegible], while near the foreground the Goddess of Liberty appears [illegible] a maiden to his sword, and pointing across the water, bids him go to the relief of Ireland.

PEN D'OREILLE LAKE BOAT.—A private letter written at Pen d'Oreille Lake on the 15th of January, states that on the 20th of December workmen commenced sawing lumber by whip saws, for the Pen d'Oreille Lake steamer. The workmen arrived there after a pleasant trip, on the 17th of December. Up to the 14th of January, notwithstanding the weather they had sawn 20,000 feet and [illegible] by the last of the month to have the whole bill [illegible], the boat would be in readiness by the first of April.

[illegible].—We are pleased to learn from parties who have lately been on a visit to Albany, that our friend John Burrows, Esq., of that enterprising village, has just completed, furnished, and dedicated a handsome new [illegible]. The party given on the occasion of the occupancy is highly spoken of, and we wish Mr. B. and his family many happy days in their new home.

[illegible].—The Victoria Chronicle says no one should start for the mines of Big Bend without being quite sure that his teeth are in good order. We are at a loss to know why this is so, as the Victorians claim that the route via their place is the safest, shortest and cheapest route to those extraordinary diggings.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.—The seventeenth of March will be fittingly [illegible] in this city, by our Irish fellow citizens. The fifth annual ball of the Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society will be given at the Lincoln House on the evening of the 17th.

THE FRONT STREET SUIT.—Contrary to our expectations the testimony in the case of McGowan vs. Ankeny, [illegible] Front street below Ash, was not completed on [illegible] day last in Circuit Court. The case has now occupied some three days attention of the Court and is very important.

ARRIVAL OF THE ECHO.—The steamer Echo, of Captain [illegible] independent line lately injured near Eugene by running on a snag, arrived at Canemah on Saturday last, repaired, and carrying 160 tons of freight, besides a [illegible] of passengers.

FUNERAL NOTICE.—The friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. [illegible] are requested to attend the funeral of their infant son, this morning at ten o'clock, from their residence at the corner of Eighth and Salmon streets.

MEETING OF MERCHANTS.—On account of Saturday being steamer day, it was thought best to postpone the [illegible] at the Stock and Exchange Board rooms until Tuesday the 27th—to-morrow—at 11 A. M.

SABBATH SCHOOL FESTIVAL.—A festival for the benefit of the library of the Congregational Sabbath school will be given at the new brick building of Dr. Glenn, on Friday evening, March 2d.

ARRIVAL.—The steamer John H. Couch, Capt. [illegible] Snow, arrived on Saturday evening from Astoria, having in tow the schooner Alfred Crosby, Capt. Ketchum, to order for a cargo for Victoria.

THE SHIP COMET.—A vessel seen off the bar at the mouth of the Columbia a few days since was supposed to be the ship Comet, now due from Honolulu.

APPOINTMENT.—Governor Low of California has appointed Hamilton Boyd of this city Commissioner of Deeds for the State of California.

LARGE HAM.—Among other freight by the steamer Alert on Saturday, we noticed a ham very nicely trimmed, weighing forty two pounds.

RACES.—M. M. Southworth advertises the Multnomah Trotting Park open for the spring races on Saturday next. We hear of several horses already entered for the races.

Gen. Grant gives it as his opinion that it is not desirable at present to remove the United States troops from the States lately in rebellion, nor wise to put arms into the hands of the militia as a method to be relied upon to preserve the tranquility of the South.

Letter from Salem

SALEM, Feb. 23, 1866.

EDS. OREGONIAN:

GOOD TEMPLARS' CONVENTION.

Our town is all agog this evening with the doings of the Good Templars, who are celebrating the birth day of our great and good Washington. While I write, they are pledging his memory in goblets of pure sparkling Willamette water, a beverage which certainly doesn't intoxicate, but which the Good Templars claim more cheering than either lightning whisky, [illegible] wine or even [illegible] celebrated peace making cider. I don't drink it very often, and cannot therefore express a very decided opinion. I should think, however, that in moderate quantities Willamette water is very good for manufacturing purposes. But really, the Good Templars are assembled here in great numbers, the Convention to-night being immense and their practical zeal is having its natural influence as seen in the almost total desertion of the whisky mills and the very general rush to the Temperance Convention. The lodge here is now a very large one and is rapidly receiving accessions. I notice quite a number of Portland and Oregon City people among the visitors.

THE SANTIAM MINES.

Late news from the Santiam, though not decisive, is very encouraging. A party who came down a day or two since reports that the mill is crushing six to ten tons per day and that the amalgamating pans exhibit prospects quite as good as has ever been expected. The Superintendent is reported as taking out or "drawing off" as it is called, an average of one ounce of amalgam per hour while the mill is running. This amount does not properly represent the product of an hour's run, but simply that amount which is in excess of the capacity of the pans for the entire run. Those most conversant with the mines express the opinion that if the clean up of the rock now being crushed yields $10 per ton the mines are a big thing. The rock is taken as it came from the ledge without regard to their character, positive or character presumptive—for as yet no decisive tests have been made, by which the rich rock may be known from the poorer. The clean up of the first run will be heard from in a few days and then we shall be wiser if not richer. Meantime stock is a little more buoyant than of late, though still handled much as a cautious man would handle a skittish colt—with proper respect to untamed and somewhat uncertain heels.

COPPERHEADS CRAWLING OUT.

In obedience to the behest of the dapper little Confederate at Albany the Copperheads of this county have begun to crawl out of their holes, and to hiss again much as they did in the good old Confederate days before their great leader put on crinoline, and when their Confederate allies boastfully menaced our Yankee hirelings on the Rappahannock. The "Marion Orator" who once drew the salary and mileage of a Representative from Oregon, assisted by two or three other vipers of the same genus opened the fight on the part of the rebels at Sublimity, the other day. About thirty or forty Confederates assembled, placed old Sammy Parker in the "cheer," resolved that this Government was made by white men for white men, that the Constitution must and shall be preserved (a new plank), that the erring States must be immediately and unconditionally restored to their former status; that United States bonds must be taxed, and that the nigger is still in the fence. Bonham and Sheil who have been asleep for the last four years were the parents of the Sublimity platform. Sheil made a speech that was all the worse for bad whisky, and Bonham made a sleepy one composed just before the war broke out. Sammy, the venerable, made a lengthy harangue in his peculiar jargon which, translated, was found to contain the astounding revelation that taxes are enormous, that greenbacks are passed from hand to hand as money, that Governor Gibbs and Colonel Reed had collected $60,000 military fund, and had accounted, to the satisfaction of Sammy, for only $6,000 of that magnificent sum; that, of course they had stolen the small balance of $54,000, that Sammy wanted to know, "what are we a gwine to?" that if the poor deceived and swindled tax payers would elect him, Sammy, to the State "Seenit" he would promise on the honor of a confederate "Dimycrat" to reduce the taxes again to six mills, as they were before his misguided brethren made war in the United States. Sammy's speech was muchly applauded by his Confederate hearers and Sammy is safe for the nomination for State Senator on the rebel ticket, and just as safe to be elected, by a large majority, to remain in the private walks of life. The State "Seenit" will not rejoice in Sammy's benignant smiles, nor will any of the "cheers" groan under the weight of his accumulated and accumulating honors. But the laughing men of this county have got a good thing while Sammy keeps the stump—he's as good as a play any time.

THE OPPOSITION.

Steamboats are still digging graves for their respective enemies, the rival proprietors, and each is sanguine of being able, eventually to bury the other. Meantime, the people who don't care more than a dollar or two for either side, are embracing the opportunity to enjoy a cheap ride, with "meals and berths included." Crowds are going constantly up and down, simply because they can travel cheaper than to stay at home. The Reliance came in this evening with flags flying and horns tooting, the Oregon City Band being on a blow out. The Active came shortly after, puffing and wheezing also, but decidedly in a less musical manner.

IMPROVEMENTS

Are springing into view all over town, stimulated by the good weather. Salem will probably grow twenty per cent during the coming summer.

POLITICIANS

Are picking out their favorite corners on which to meet their fellow citizens by pure accident and the difficulty of getting up or down town without a stoppage, is rapidly increasing. It is astonishing how many men now have "friends who insist on their being candidates." None of them however, care anything about it themselves, only they wouldn't like to disoblige their friends. They are right—men who will have friends that will insist on such sacrifices, ought to resign themselves cheerfully to the infliction of offices or even greater evils. I, for one, won't keep any such friends about me. I can't afford to be a candidate for the thin glory of the thing.

EPHRAIM.

Colonel Markland, of the Postoffice Department, has just returned to Washington from a four months' tour to the Pacific States. It is said he reports a better condition of affairs there than was supposed to exist. He brings much valuable information that will enable the Department to increase its postal service, while decreasing its expenditures.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated

PLANTATION BITTERS,

Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supersede all other tonics where a healthy gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in Bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

Grant and Sherman

J T Headly, the popular author, has written a book with the above title The following are extracts from it

CHARACTER OF GRANT

Grant's whole mental nature is sluggish It is said that when he kept store, it was hard to make him leave his seat to wait on a customer But this sluggishness is not indolence as his career abundantly testifies There are some men in this world possessing immense mental power who yet from mere inertness, pass through life with poor success. Lighter natures outstrip them in the race for wealth or position, and the strength they really possess is never known, because it has never been called out It never is called out by ordinary events. They were made for great emergencies, and if these do not arise, they seem almost made in vain, at least these powers appear to be given them in vain Grant is one of these He is like a great wheel, on which mere rills of water may drop forever without moving it, or if they succeed in disturbing its equilibrium, only accomplish a partial revolution It needs an immense body of water to make it roll, and then it revolves with a power and majesty that awes the beholder. No slight obstruction then can arrest its mighty sweep Acquiring momentum with each revolution, it crushes to atoms everything thrust before it to check its motion

This is the kind of sluggishness that characterizes Grant—the sluggishness of great weight which always takes a great force to move, but whose activity, when once set in motion, is something fearful to contemplate

As a military man he has shown a remarkable power in one respect that has hardly been commented upon—the power of handling large armies. Napoleon denied that more than one or two generals beside himself in all Europe, could manœuvre a hundred thousand men on the field of battle. Grant did more than this, and the manner in which he handled the Army of the Potomac on the route from the Rapidan to Richmond, was more astonishing than the winning of a great battle. The way he swung it from Spottsylvania to the North Anna, without having his flank crushed in, and from thence to Pamunkey, and, last of all, from the Chickahominy, for 50 miles, across the James, right from under the nose of the enemy, and yet never be attacked, shows a capacity in wielding enormous forces possessed by few men in the world.

His moral qualities lie more on the surface, and can be appreciated by all. He is grand here, as in his mental organization. Noble in his generosity, he is often kinder to his subordinates than they are to themselves. Gentle to his foes when conquered, he subdues them by his kindness after they have yielded to his arms. Envious of none, and apparently void of ambition, he has labored with a single desire to serve his country and vindicate her flag.

No man of modern times has arisen from so insignificant a position to so lofty a one in so short a period, and yet there has not been a word or an act that shows it has disturbed the equipoise of his character. We regard this as more remarkable than his military success. We are told that "he that ruleth his spirit is greater than he that taketh a city." Gen. Grant has shown that he can do this. Taking cities is not an uncommon exploit; but this thorough control of one's self, under the most unfavorable circumstances, is little short of a miracle. He has not been betrayed into a foolish word or act, or indulged in an angry expression, or exhibited a revengeful spirit toward his enemies He has never sought promotion, indulged in no recriminations under slanderous charges, nor used his power to humble an enemy Disliking public ovations, he submits to them with a simpleness of manner that adds an inexpressible charm to his character. Though so far above the people, he feels as one of them, and wears his honors as but few of our poor fallen race can wear them. It is these qualities that, though so undemonstrative himself, make him universally beloved.

CHARACTER OF SHERMAN.

He has a constitution of iron, which neither cold nor rain, nor heat, nor miasma, seems to affect.

Ever on the alert, his first act when roused from repose by the distant sound of cannon and musketry, is usually to light a cigar. If the firing increases, he mounts Old Sam and rides forward to the front, where, leaving his horse in the care of an orderly, he walks toward the spot where the volleys are heaviest.

But, with all his abruptness and curtness of manner, Sherman is at times a very sociable man, and enters into a frolic with great zest.

His scorn of pretense, mock philanthropy, and [illegible] piety, and of all shams, is intense and unbounded. Straightforward, and without hypocrisy himself, he hates duplicity in others. He is naturally cautious and suspicious, for he finds few men open and undisguised as himself. He has a keen penetration of character, and quickly sounds the depths of those with whom he comes in contact. His heart is kind as it is great, and in talking with children all the stern lines of his face disappear. He is a warm friend, but at the same time a good hater. His memory of persons and details is wonderful, and like Bonaparte, he knows everything that is going on in his army.

As a military man Sherman has few equals in the world, and he possesses all the qualities that go to make up a great commander. He has that peculiarity of Bonaparte which gave him such tremendous power; great rapidity of thought, and yet deliberateness of conclusion. His mind moves with the rapidity of lightning, and yet with the accuracy and steadiness of naked reason. So swiftly does he rush to conclusions, that many of his friends seem to think he arrives at them by intuition. He can decide quickly and correctly too. He unites two opposite natures in one, the careful, methodical man, with the quick and impetuous one. This power of thinking quickly and correctly too, is a tremendous one. It allows the possessor of it to be executing plans while his enemy is forming them

To a courage that no danger can daunt, and an energy that nothing can tire, and a perseverance that will not admit of defeat, there is added in him a profound strategic skill. His power of combination is wonderful. He can embrace vast fields and almost innumerable contingencies in his plans, and yet reduce the latter to a simplicity that makes one forget the power which was required to do it.

He alone, of all our Generals, has cut loose from some of the established rules of military science, and yet succeeded. Operating with a large army successfully, a hundred miles or more from its base, has been regarded as an impossibility. Yet he did this in his Atlanta campaign Cutting entirely loose from any base, and swinging off into open air and becoming an independent machine, fighting, foraging and marching all the time in an enemy's country, has been regarded still more impossible. Yet he did that in his Georgia and Carolina campaigns; nearly two months at a time swallowed up in a hostile country, and yet at the end emerging into view with men and animals in a better condition than when he started. These campaigns, like the first Napoleon's in Italy, will furnish a new study for the military scholar for a century to come. Sherman also handles a great army with wonderful facility. Still, like Grant, he has grown to his present stature. Both at Pittsburg Landing, were very different men from what they are now. Sherman, however, has true genius, though not of that peculiar kind which enables a man to mount with a single stride to the highest position, and fill it The world furnishes but few such. The only difference between common and great men, is, that the latter can grow to any responsibility or requirements of life, and the former cannot. One rises with events, and the other sinks under them, one controls them, the other is mastered by them.

Some call him ambitious, such natures always are; but Sherman's ambition can never override his patriotism or love of right and truth His love of country is intense, while many of his letters and expressed views show that he could serve it just as ably in a civil as in a military capacity.

A MAGNIFICENT FETE—The Trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, on Thursday evening last, gave a grand reception in the beautiful building they have recently constructed at the corner of Broadway and Liberty streets The entire house was admirably decorated with flowers and flags. At least a thousand persons were present, among whom were noticeable some of the most distinguished of our citizens There was a fine collation for the guests, which was gotten up in Delmonico's most elegant style, and a band of music enlivened the scene. After supper, the guests were formally welcomed by the President of the Company, Mr. Winston, and Judge Bradford gave the following interesting information regarding the history of the company "It began business in 1843, upon the mutual plan, without any capital. The first cash it received was $109 50, on the first of February, 1843 Its cash accumulations and investments are now $11,000 000 It issued in the first year 429 policies, insuring for $1,501,818 During the present year its issue will be upwards of 7,000 policies, insuring over $25,000,000 The policies now in force are 23,000 in number, insuring for $75,000 000 It has paid in losses, $6,500,000 Nearly three fourths of all the policies issued are for the benefit of ladies and belong to them At the outbreak of the war, the trustees deemed it their duty to aid the government in all prudent and practicable ways It purchased upward of six million dollars of Government stock, and was the first company to grant war permits to persons already holding policies who wished to enter the military or naval service Similar policies were afterward issued to all persons who enlisted and applied for them"—[illegible] Home Journal, Jul

WORDS FITLY SPOKEN—The New York Tribune very justly remarks

"Peace without justice is a chimera, and is strikingly exhibited at the South to day Capital immigrants, investment are urgently needed there we would like to help impel them thither but we can do little or nothing in this line while the Southern journals and demagogues insist that a negro insurrection is imminent many of them doing their worst to provoke it The South ought to make at least two million bales of cotton next year, and sell it for more than she ever obtained for a crop of five million bales yet she is likely to grow far less because of the insane endeavors of her leading politicians to reconsign the blacks to a condition essentially abject and servile The infatuation which impels to this course barely stops short of insanity The South and the North must both progress. So must white and black, so must labor and capital, so must planting and manufacture He is only a true statesman who perceives this essential harmony of interests and seeks to render it concrete, practical and perfect Only when the name of justice is invoked in the interest of iniquity and oppression does the word grate harshly on any generous ear"

THE ATLANTIC CABLE—There is a project in London to lay Allen's telegraph cable across the Atlantic by a new route Mr Allen has invented a new cable, which he affirms is better than any other He sheathes his wire within a gutta percha covering instead of having a wire protection outside His wire has "an internal conducting copper core of dimensions varying according to the proposed length of the cable protected by a spinal coating of small steel wires—which themselves constitute the strength of the cable, the whole embedded in gutta percha, and covered with an outer covering of tarred hempen tape" It weighs only one fourth of the lost Atlantic cable, is only five eighths of an inch in diameter, instead of one and one tenth inches, takes up little room in a ship, costs about one fifth of the other cables and will transmit a much greater number of letters in a given time The projected line is intended to run from London to Oporto, six hundred miles, from Oporto to the Azores to Halifax, fourteen hundred more Why not have the terminus at Sandy Hook or Long Island?

The United States frigate Lancaster has been ordered to Valparaiso and will sail probably to morrow

THE STANDARD
AMERICAN BILLIARD TABLES!

AND COMBINATION CUSHIONS

MESSRS. PHELAN & COLLENDER

WOULD RESPECTFULLY CALL THE ATTENTION of persons wanting Billiard Tables to the great superiority of the above tables, manufactured exclusively at their establishment

At the Billiard Congress of 1863, composed of all the first class players of America it was unanimously resolved that tables of our manufacture should be used at all matches for the Championship, as the best and only reliable tables

These Billiard Tables have received the unqualified approval of the best players and most competent judges, who have universally pronounced them unequaled for general excellence and durability

Seven distinct patents for improvements in Billiard Tables have been granted to us by the United States Patent Office, and we have lately obtained a Patent from the French Government, for our improvement in Billiard Cushions

We employ in the construction of our tables a variety of machines specially made for the purpose by means of which we are enabled to insure a scientific and mechanical accuracy hitherto unknown in Billiard manufacture.

Having a long experience and thorough knowledge of all the appliances of Billiards, and constantly on hand a large stock of the best and most thoroughly seasoned materials, we are prepared to furnish everything required in the Billiard line with unprecedented dispatch

The eminent French Billiard Player, M Berger, has published the following opinion:

"NEW YORK, 2d August, 1861

"On the eve of leaving the United States, I am happy to declare to all amateurs of Billiards that, after a tour of eleven months through the principal cities, I have been enabled to judge in a satisfactory manner of the superiority of the Billiard Tables manufactured by Phelan & Collender The system of manufacturing is so superior, that I am happy to introduce their style of cushion into France They have united to their manufacture of American Billiard Tables that of the French Tables, of remarkable excellence and beauty For these reasons, I am happy to make this declaration

"BERGER, CLAUDIUS,
Prof of Billiards, Paris"

Parties ordering from us will find our prices as low as good work can possibly be made for. We sell first-class articles at a fair price, and will not make an inferior article at any price.

Orders by mail carefully and promptly executed Illustrated Catalogues and Price Lists sent by mail The "BILLIARD CUE," a journal published in the interest of Billiards and containing details of all novelties, a copious record of Billiard news, and everything of interest to amateurs of Billiards, sent free on application

General Remarks.

Revenue stamps may be used indiscriminately upon any of the matters or things enumerated in Schedule B, except proprietary and playing card stamps, for which a special use has been provided

Postage stamps cannot be used in payment of the duty chargeable on instruments

It is the duty of the maker of an instrument to affix and cancel the stamp required thereon If he neglects to do so, the party for whose use it is made may stamp it before it is used, but in no case can it be legally used without a stamp An instrument subject to stamp duty but issued unstamped prior to August 1 1864, may be made valid by stamping it as required by section 163 of the Act of June 30 1864; if issued since, the case falls under section 158 of said Act as amended by the Act of March 3 1865

Suits are commenced in many States by other process than by writ viz summons, warrant, publication, petition, &c, in which cases, these, as the original processes, severally require stamps

The Jurat of an affidavit, taken before a justice of the peace notary public, or other officer duly authorized to take affidavits is held to be a certificate, and subject to a stamp duty of five cents, except when taken in suits or legal proceedings

Certificates of Loan, in which there shall appear any written or printed evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand or at a time designated, are subject to stamp duty as "Promissory Notes"

The assignment of a mortgage is subject to the same stamp duty as that imposed upon the original instrument, that is to say for every sum of five hundred dollars, or any fractional part thereof of the amount secured by the mortgage at the time of its assignment, there must be affixed a stamp or stamps denoting a duty of fifty cents

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamp to which the instrument is liable under the law may be affixed and cancelled by either of them

In conveyances of real estate, the law provides that the stamp affixed must answer to the value of the estate or interest conveyed

No stamp is required on any warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note when such bond or note has affixed thereto the stamp or stamps denoting the duty required, and whenever any bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers, such stamp duty being the highest rate required for such instruments, or either of them In such case a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgment of the instrument which is not stamped

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.
